

2019

Asia-Pacific Agribusiness Development and Matching Forum

In 2016, the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) published by the United Nations led the world in development and drew global attention. To achieve the SDGs, we need 3.3 to 4.5 trillion US dollars per year, but the official development aid (ODA) from OECD countries provides merely about 3.3% of total requirement. In other words, these gaps provide potential business opportunities to lead market development in a range of fields, including food, nutrition, health, environment, technology, education and finance, and these markets are waiting to be explored. For example, the market value is expected to reach 1.2 billion US dollars for the global smart agriculture and greenhouse sector in 2022 and 35 billion for the micro-grid and solar power industry in 2020.

To expand international aid effectiveness and share the benefits with enterprises in Taiwan, the TaiwanICDF will host the Asia-Pacific Agribusiness Development and Matching Forum and invite government officials and business representatives from India, Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Thailand, Vietnam, Cambodia, and Sri Lanka. Besides, representatives from the Taiwan government, agribusiness chamber, banks and international aid agencies are also invited to share their own opinions and to discover the potential market together. In addition, to enhance the linkage between the overseas market and Taiwan companies, the TaiwanICDF Business Matching Platform (TBMP) will be officially launched at the event for boosting overseas business opportunities. The main objectives of the forum are:

- To improve linkage between the industries in Taiwan and governments and private sectors in the Asia-Pacific region.
- To expand integration of industry development and international aid projects.
- To establish an information exchange platform.
